

Abstract

Transparent fused crystalline ceramic, and methods of making and using the same. Embodiments of transparent fused crystalline ceramics according to the present invention are useful, for as abrasive particles, reflective and optical components, and as grinding and sand blasting media.

5